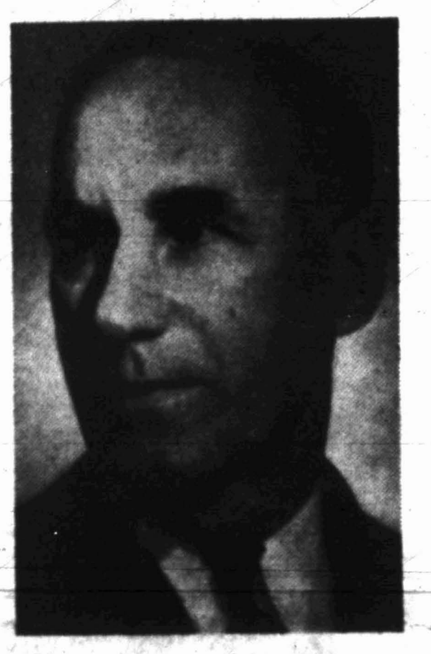
J. E. Abernethy Retires, Salinas Man To Follow As Local Bank Manager

J. E. Abernethy, manager of the Carmel office of American Trust Company will retire from the bank on May 1, according to an announcement made today by Axel P. Holm, vice president and district manager. Mr. Abernethy will be succeeded by Thomas L. Craig, vice president at the Salinas Main Office.

A native of Monterey County, Mr. Abernethy began his banking career with the Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank in 1916, when he was appointed manager of the bank's King City office. When the Carmel office of the bank was established in 1930, he was named manager and has served in that capacity continuously for the past 25 years. He is a member of the Carmel Business Association, a director of Peninsula Community Hospital, director of Harrison Memorial Library and a member of Monterey Peninsula Country Club.



J. E. Abernethy retires as bank manager May 1.

"I have been looking forward to retirement for the past several years and now I intend to play golf, travel and just relax", Mr. Abernethy says, "One of the finest compliments I have ever received was from Mr. James K. Lochead, president of American Trust Company, when he recently said, 'Jack, we would like to have you stay on with us for another ten years'."

Mr. and Mrs. Abernethy will continue their permanent residence in Carmel.

Craig, who will succeed Mr. Abernethy as manager of the Carmel office of American Trust Company, has been a resident of Salinas since 1921. He started in 1927 with the Monterey County Trust & Savings Bank, after attending the College of Pacific. He

Del Monte Properties Development Points Up Parking Needs

James Doud, property owner in the business district and an enthusiastic supporter of the parking district, called the Pine Cone's attention to an item in the Wednesday's Wall Street Journal.

"This is another reason why the business property owners should be glad to support a parking district," Doud said.

The item concerned the financial report of Del Monte Properties for 1954 and contained this paragraph:

" 'Cash and immediate convertible securities are being accumulated with a view to starting in the near future a shopping center on Munras Avenue, Monterey, and the development of contiguous property,' Mr. Morse said."

Doud pointed out that unless parking is provided for shoppers in Carmel they will go elsewhere, and this proposed shopping center is only one of the "elsewheres" that will spring up.

If their tenants become less prosperous or have to go out of business the landlords in the business area will suffer financially in reduced rents or vacant buildings.

"Business property owners will be hurt by not having a parking district, and they are the ones who should pay for it through assessment of their property," Doud stated.

Boyer To Rehearse Festival Chorus; 1st Meeting Monday

Carmel's Eighteenth Annual Bach Festival, which will take place July 18-24, holds its first choral rehearsal Monday night in the kindergarten room of the Sunset School Auditorium, entrance on Tenth Street. The rehearsal hour is 7:30.

Angie Machado, who for the past seven years has been Mr. Usigli's assistant, has had to ask to be relieved of work for this season because of her recent illness. She will be back at her post next year. During the interim, the Denny-Watrous Management, founder and producer of the Bach Festival, has had the good fortune to secure Gilbert Boyer to take over.

While the first rehearsal of the

Hatton Canyon Freeway Route Is Approved By State Highway Commission

The California Highway Commission agreed at their meeting yesterday afternoon in Sacramento to adopt a freeway through Hatton Canyon, accepting the revised routing requested by the City of Carmel instead of the route along Highway No. 1 as recommended by the state highway engineers, according to an announcement made by Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee to the Pine Cone this morning.

Actual adoption of the revised freeway routing will have to await action either by the legislature or by the City of Carmel to make the location conform to the official description of the highway route in state law, Frank Durkee, chairman of the commission explained to Pattee. "As it now reads, the law has been interpreted to require that the highway pass through some part of the City of Carmel," Durkee said.

In their report of the public hearing held in Carmel last month, the commissioners recognized the reason advanced by the state highway engineers in recommending a freeway along the existing route but decided finally in favor of the more easterly Hatton Canyon Route on the assurance of Claude Faw, who appeared at yesterday's meeting in behalf of Carmel, that the City of Carmel is familiar with the legal aspects of the routing and would take proper legal procedure to meet requirements of the routing. This, as brought out at the public hearing here, might be achieved by annexing to the City of Carmel a corridor along Carpenter Street for the few blocks between the city limits and the juncture with the Hatton Canyon Route. Pattee, however, is introducing a bill in the legislature today to eliminate the requirement of contiguousness, which would make annexation unnecessary if it succeeds.

"The people of Carmel have achieved a complete victory through their unanimity on this," Pattee commented.

New Classrooms To Be Built At River School Instead Of Woods; Over 500 New Students Expected

Because of a sudden shift in anticipated school population, plans for building new classrooms at Woods School this spring were changed to River School by the school board at their meeting last night.

The decision followed a report by School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell who said that 86 lots have been sold in Mission Fields and within two months the tract developers report that two and three bedroom houses will be completed upon them. Mission Fields Number Two is now being subdivided. It will have 100 lots on which construction will start in August and September. Since it takes from six to eight weeks to put up the houses, this means another influx of children at River School around Christmas. Rio Tract, west of Mission Fields, with 18 lots, is developing, Mitchell added.

Development has taken place on the Mesa during the year, he pointed out. With the start of the school term the district was transporting six Mesa students to Woods School. Now there are 27 riding the bus to Woods. These students should be going to River.

Assuming 2.8 students to each two or three bedroom home, there will be around 500 new students in the River School area by Christmas, Mrs. Marjorie McCausland, Woods' principal estimated.

There will be a financial advantage in building at River where there are already adequate play fields, it was pointed out. New class rooms at Woods would have required an expenditure of an additional $10,000 to prepare playground space. The board hopes to be able to build six class rooms at River, one shell to be completed later when more funds are available, for the same cost of putting up two class rooms, a shell for two more class rooms, and the administration unit at Woods.

About $880.00 worth of architectural and engineering work has been done on Woods School plans but these plans will be usable when time comes for construction at Woods.

Thomas Elston, school architect, was doubtful about getting new plans approved by the state engineer's office soon enough so that the River units will be ready for occupancy before Christmas, but Mitchell hoped to expedite things at Sacramento. If plans can be passed there with not more delay than three weeks, Elston said the class rooms could possibly be completed by October. Double sessions or over-size classes at River would be the order for the first month of school, Mitchell said.

Financial Advisor Peter Mawdsley told the board that the $57,000 set aside in the budget for building this spring was now increased to $65,000 through a refund of $7,441 on prepaid insurance premiums and several miscellaneous savings.

Board approved engaging two new elementary teachers, both completing their work at teachers college, where their records are exceptional, Mitchell reported.

Miss Frances Lee Hunt, whose home town is Eureka, will receive her credential from Humbolt State

Where's Our Badge? Pine Cone Finds Arthur For Sheriff

The Pine Cone this morning served as an unofficial agent of the Monterey County Sheriff's Office, missing persons department.

Sheriff's office reported early today that two men had been dispatched to the Garapatas Canyon area to conduct an intensive search for 85-year-old Henry Arthur, who was last night reported to have been missing from his Palo Colorado cabin for over a week.

Members of the Pine Cone staff were certain they had seen Arthur browsing around town during the past two weeks, and so informed Police Chief Clyde Klaumann.

Chief Klaumann promptly drove up to Devendorf Plaza, found Arthur quietly sitting on a bench. Arthur, a long-time resident, divides his time between his cabin down the coast and a house in town. Chief Klaumann called the sheriff's office, the search was called off, and Arthur returned to his bench in the sun.

RED CROSS LACKS $4,106 OF ITS GOAL

At the end of the third week, Carmel Red Cross reports that it is within $4,106 of its goal of $25,312.00.

"If you were not contacted either at home or at your business, please telephone Red Cross and we will arrange to have your check picked up, or it may be mailed directly to Carmel Red Cross, Box AR," says Robert Cairns, Drive Chairman. "It is necessary that the goal be reached soon if Red Cross is to continue its service to the community."

Jeanne Fratessa Is Valedictorian For Class Of 1955

Plans for Carmel High School's spring commencement exercises materialized this week with the announcement that Jeanne Fratessa will be valedictorian for the Class of '55.

The graduation program will take place on Friday night, June 17, at 8:00 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium, climaxing the traditional Senior Week activities.

Choice of a salutatorian and a class speaker to join Valedictorian Fratessa and plans for the commencement program will be discussed at a meeting of the senior class committee this week.

Jeanne Fratessa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fratessa, has been elected to three student body offices in her four years at the high school: secretary, commissioner of girls' athletics, and song leader. She earned her service pin in her junior year and was elected to Leaders' Club at the end of her sophomore year, and has served as president of the California Scholarship Federation, of which she is a life member.

Jeanne has also been president of Girls' League, Girls' Athletic Association and French Club, and has been an officer of Leaders' Club and Latin Club and junior

LEAGUE BASEBALL ACTION AT PG TOMORROW

Currently deadlocked for the top spot in the B division of the CCAL, Carmel and Pacific Grove will untangle the knot tomorrow afternoon at the Grove diamond when they square off in league baseball action. The Breakers polished off Gilroy, 11 to 5, last week while the Padres were taking the measure of Hollister, 6 to 1. Defending champions of the B division, Pacific Grove has practically the same team which was good enough to win the title last season. In Eddie Estaban, the Breakers have the league's winningest pitcher and they have good batting strength to back up the fast-balling right-hander.

Carmel's 3-man pitching staff of Dick Jennings, Bill Powell, and Mike Mosolf is set for action and the starter will not be nominated until game time tomorrow. All three lads have shown good stuff in compiling four victories this season and they're all set for action.

Other games in the B league find Hollister going against Live Oak, and King City tackling Gilroy.

SWIM MEET AT CARMEL POOL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

A nice warm sunshiny day would be appreciated by the Carmel High swimming team tomorrow afternoon when they play host to the brand new Pacific Grove swimming aggregation. Although the weather has been a bit on the frigid side, Coach Chuck Moody has had the Carmel natators going through their paces for the last week and declares them fit for fast action. Headed by lettermen John Thompson, Pat Erwin, Jim Hicks, Bill Palmer, Chuck Baird and Graves Cox, the Padres have solid entries in all events except the varsity diving.

PADRE NINE WHIPS HOLLISTER AND SALINAS

Winning their first league tilt from Hollister, 6 to 1, and edging the potent Salinas in a practice joust, 5 to 4, the Carmel High varsity baseball team extended their winning streak to four games as they continue to play sparkling defensive ball.

Diminutive Billy Powell hurled a masterful four-hitter against the Hollister Haybalers to hold the upper hand all the way. The little right-hander was in a spot of trouble in the first inning when the visitors loaded the bases with one out but he picked a runner off second to throttle the threatening rally. Only one infield miscue marred the perfect defensive play thrown up by the Padres who appear to have a well-balanced infield and a wide-roaming set of outfielders. Bill McCormack and Bob Michela swung the big sticks for Carmel, Bill hitting a solid 2 for 2 and Bob collecting 2 for 4.

Carmel's victory over the big Salinas Cowboys was a hard-fought fracas all the way and went right down to the final out before the win was assured. Ahead, 5 to 4, going into the final frame, the Padres saw Salinas load the bases with nobody out and the heavy part of the batting order taking their swings. However, the rough going was made to order for the scrappy Carmel gang as pitcher Mike Mosolf hitched up his pants and went to work on the Salinas heavy artillery. Bill McCormack gobbled up a short fly ball in left field for the first out, the next batter went down via the strike-out route, and Roger Bullene gathered in a lazy fly ball to end the game.

Carmel moved in front of the Cowboys in the third frame as they cashed in on three Salinas errors, three stolen bases, and a pair of hits by Jim Konrad and Mike Mosolf to shove across four runs. The Cowboys came back in the bottom of the third to knot the count as left-fielder Kehl hit a booming home-run to drive across two runs. The Padres broke the deadlock and scored the winning run in the fourth heat when West Whittaker drew a life on an infield error, stole second, and scored when the Salinas left-fielder bobbled Roger Bullene's short fly.

Carmel box score of Salinas game:

CARMEL TRACK TEAMS OUTSCORE LIVE OAK

Coach Howard Byrne's enthusiastic track teams powered their way to a double-win over the Live Oak thinclads last Saturday afternoon, the varsity rolling to an 88-22 victory and the lightweights squeaking by the Live Oak limiteds, 56 to 54. Although Live Oak is a much larger school than Carmel, their varsity track squad was composed of four men who gave it a valiant try but were naturally smothered by the 20-man Carmel squad. The lightweight meet was nip and tuck all the way with the last event deciding the winner. Carmel had lost the relay by a disqualification and had to get a first in the broad-jump to win the meet. Carrot-thatched John Stiles was equal to the occasion as he put out with his very best jump to pick up the valuable five points. Ironically, it was the swift Stiles who drew the disqualification foul in the 440-yard relay.

Next Monday afternoon at 2:30, Carmel hosts Gilroy High in a league meet which should be close in both divisions. Gilroy is led by the CCAL 440 champion, Chris Costello, and has plenty of swift in all the events.

Muriel Bastin Shows Weaving At Library

There is a colorful weaving exhibit of the Carmel Crafts Guild at the Harrison Memorial Library. Muriel Bastin, a student of loom weaving with Mrs. David Marshall of Chicago is showing two techniques; one in which the design is woven in inlay, and the other an example of card weaving, the use of which is somewhat restricted. Though she works in a variety of materials, she prefers weaving with linen threads.

Mrs. Bastin has exhibited in Chicago hobby shows and during Word War II taught Inkle and card weaving to veterans in the Minneapolis Veterans' Hospital. She has been affiliated with several guilds, namely Chicago, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, Santa Cruz and Carmel.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Finally Talked Herself Out

A certain talkative young lady almost spent a night locked in "Doc" White's drugstore.

She entered Doc's store about 11 PM, going directly to the pay phone. At eleven-thirty Doc went home—not having seen a customer for a half hour. Around midnight he got a call from the store ... she had finally run out of conversation (and money) and found the front door locked tight.

Doc vowed he'd leave her there to teach her a lesson. But Mrs. W. spoke up: "Now you go turn her loose. It's hard to cut a good conversation short — something only a woman understands!"

From where I sit, however, plenty of men are as hard to pry away from a telephone as any female. Some people are just naturally long-winded, while others are the silent type—just as some of us like coffee and others prefer a glass of beer. The important thing is to be considerate ... before friends start giving us the "busy signal."

The oldest son, Gerald Barker, is connected with Pilot Market, while Ronald is a student at Sunset School. The Barkers are living on Carpenter between Fourth and Fifth.

Ruth Higby

Miss Ruth Higby, a Carmel resident for over 25 years, died March 18 in a Salinas hospital of burns received on March 13 in an accident at her apartment on Dolores between Fifth and Sixth streets.

A native of Oakland, Miss Higby first came to Carmel in the late 1920's. During her early years here she conducted an employment bureau, and later worked as a companion to a local woman. She took an active interest in music here, having studied music in Germany and Italy for several years. She was a member of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

She leaves several nieces and nephews.

Going On A Picnic?

Suppose on some fine morning, now that Spring is here, it looks like an absolutely perfect picnic day. Also suppose that you are rushed for time. You must phone a few of your friends and arrange the time and place. Perhaps there is the baby's formula to fix, and housework to be done. It doesn't look as though you can possibly find the time to handle the most important part of any picnic—selecting the food. What to do? Call Pilot Market.

"We are going on a picnic," you will say. "Will you kindly put together enough food for five adults and four children. I'll be by in an hour to pick up the order."

So, we turn the problem over to one of our efficient clerks, and this is what he might have ready for you when you stop by on your way to the country or the beach. Hot dogs, buns, mustard, pickles, olives, potato chips, bananas and oranges, cokes and milk, paper cups and plates, napkins and a bottle opener.

On the other hand, suppose it is going to be a clear, moonlight night and you, with two or three other couples, are going somewhere to cook out. If steaks are in your budget we would select some of our fine beef for you and the mixings for a salad—tomatoes, lettuce, perhaps an avocado, a loaf of French bread and a kitchen knife.

An outdoor breakfast party would, of course, call for a skillet, slices of ham or bacon, eggs, fruit juice or fruit, rolls and coffee.

We even carry Presto-logs and charcoal as well as fire starters for your fire if you are not in the mood to collect wood. And if you don't feel like bringing your own silverware we can supply you with disposable forks and spoons or camp utensils which may be used over and over.

In other words, Pilot Market, on Ocean Avenue just above San Carlos, is not just another grocery store. We are in business to serve the community to the best of our ability as to quality merchandise, reasonable prices and efficient, friendly service.

We invite you to come in and see for yourselves. Look over our always-fresh vegetables, fine meats and large stock of canned and fresh foods. Because every item is clearly marked, you are in no danger of exceeding your weekly food budget. Come in and see for yourselves!

Bach-Vivaldi Concert Enjoyable Experience For Both Audience And Talented Local Musicians

By Virginia Shaw

Several hundred people gathered in the mellow old sanctuary of Carmel Mission Saturday night to enjoy a Bach-Vivaldi concert presented by the Music Department of Monterey Peninsula College. Because of the setting, the audience refrained from applause, but in the quiet which followed each number one sensed an empathy between performers and listeners, a warm and happy feeling of achievement.

The complex geometry of baroque music is a tonic in itself, with its complete integration of exuberant invention and even profound emotion with formal restraint. If there is any greater pleasure than hearing such music, it is performing it. The 22 amateur and professional musicians in Saturday's concert have been getting together evenings at Monterey College with its ambitious young music director, Dr. Harvey Marshall, to study and perform baroque instrumental music. Their earnest absorption in music-making was obvious in their first group concert, but equally apparent was their deep enjoyment in it, which they communicated to the audience.

The program was a rich but well-balanced feast, consisting of Bach's fourth and fifth Brandenburg concerti, Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso, Op. 3, in G Minor and the same composer's Stabat Mater, arranged for strings and solo voice by Dr. Marshall. The entire program was characterized by stimulatingly non-academic vitality and freshness, along with considerable technical competence. A few ragged edges in the string ensemble were noticeable in the opening Vivaldi concerto grosso, but the orchestra hit full stride in the second work on the program, the formidable Fifth Brandenburg. Paced by Dr. Marshall's spirited and intelligent direction and Wade Parks' crisp continuo, the orchestra performed with commendable teamwork, style and sonority. Integration of orchestra with soloists was generally good, though there were a few moments when the orchestra's collective enthusiasm tended to obscure the solo voices.

Notable among the several solo performances in the program were violinist Arden Ardaiz' smoothly expert work in the Fourth Brandenburg, the high point of the orchestra's program performance-wise, along with flutists Pattie Clapper and Mitzi Erickson, and Mrs. Clapper's solo in the Fifth Brandenburg. Wade Parks, whose piano accompaniments added much to the entire performance, provided the most exhilarating episode of the evening in his technically brilliant, beautifully phrased execution of the thorny and extended cadenza of the Fifth Brandenburg. The sombre architecture of the Stabat Mater was somewhat eclipsed by the richly embellished Brandenburgs which flanked it but proved moving and effective, the muted string accompaniment rendering a rich background for Dominic DiMare's bass-baritone, a voice somewhat light for its range but exceptionally flexible and true.

In his brief informative remarks between numbers, Dr. Marshall stated that the orchestra is not "permanent." If so, this is regrettable, since this initial concert clearly demonstrated that the group has much to offer, and that there are many eager to hear it. Such concerts, Dr. Marshall noted, have been regularly performed in the churches of Europe for hundreds of years, and the establishment of such a tradition here would be a rich gift to the community. Carmel Mission is an ideal setting for a concert such as Saturday's, providing the right frame aesthetically, and its acoustical qualities are famous.

There are some people these days who feel that the only place to hear great music is in their own living rooms, where hi-fi recording and reproduction equipment permits them to enjoy the world's finest artists and orchestras in impeccable performances cleansed of any audio impurities or audience distractions. But the shared satisfaction and excitement of re-creating fine music through hearing such a group as Dr. Marshall's is something all the magic of hi-fi can never supplant.

In addition to Dr. Marshall and Mr. DiMare (the latter of whom also designed the striking program covers), thanks for Saturday's concert go to the following musicians: Arden Ardaiz, Henry Bacon, Charis Buckminster, Louis Fragos, David Hagemeyer, Helen Shutes, Mary Whitmer and Franklin Young, violins; Gilbert Boyer, Geraldine O'Connell, Sharile Gellner and Marie Sale, violas; William Buckminster, Marjorie Ogle and Billie Smith, 'cellos; Howard Crawford and Ernest Diridoni, contrabasses; Pattie Clapper and Mitzi Erickson, flutes; and Wade Parks, piano. We sincerely hope to hear them all again.

James Southwell

James Malcolm Southwell, sexton of the Church of the Wayfarer since 1936, died Saturday in a Salinas hospital after an extended illness at the age of 79.

Ever since he and his family moved to Carmel, Mr. Southwell had served as sexton of Church of the Wayfarer. He took pride in showing "his church" to visitors and tourists, assisted at countless weddings and christenings, and generally became an established fixture in the parish.

Seven years ago, he put aside a church rule and tolled its bells for the wedding there of his granddaughter, Jean Southwell (Mrs. Jack Clothier), and in subsequent years has had the pleasure of being at the church to see the Clothiers' three daughters baptized there.

Perhaps the high point of his association with the Wayfarer came a year ago February, when he and his wife, Agnes, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. A gala reception in the Southwells' honor was staged by the women of the church, and was attended by over 200 friends and well-wishers. The church was also the scene of an anniversary banquet, at which Mr. Southwell was presented by the members of the parish with a tree hung with silver dollars in appreciation of his years of service. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, in memorial services for Mr. Southwell Tuesday, said, "The Wayfarer was really his church; he merely allowed the rest of us to use it."

James Southwell was born October 30, 1876, in Paisley, Scotland. He was a plumber by trade, but devoted his spare time to the Paisley Presbyterian Church as superintendent of the Sunday School. He and his family came to this country in 1910, and for 26 years made their home in Pittsburgh, where he worked at his trade. He came to Carmel in 1936 ostensibly to retire, but within the year was working as sexton for both the Wayfarer Church and All Saints' Episcopal Church, then situated back-to-back in the same block.

He was a member for many years of the Order of the Scottish Clans. He never lost his Scottish brogue in his 45 years in this country.

In addition to his wife, he leaves a son, James M. Southwell, Jr., of Pacific Grove; a daughter, Mrs. Edith Alexander of Palo Alto; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, as well as three sisters and a brother living in Scotland.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Church of the Wayfarer, followed by burial at Cemeterio El Encinal in Monterey.

New Classrooms To Be Built At River School

and will teach fourth grade either at Sunset or River. Miss Viola Nicolaus of Alhambra is finishing at San Jose State, and will be in charge of a fourth or fifth grade at River or Woods.

Mrs. Eleanor Crouch gave a retardation report on reading in the eighth grade at Sunset. Thirty of the students out of the 90 in this year's eighth grade class have been at Sunset since the first grade. Twenty-five percent of the 90 students have an intelligence rating of 80 and above, and a fourth read at 90 percentile. Reading achievement of these children is exceptional. Twenty-three students out of the 90 have below average reading skill. Eight of them have been for eight years at Sunset. Some of them are under emotional pressure. Some lack interest or motivation. All have been helped year by year and some are showing improvement. The school board felt that the number of retarded readers was less than is normal in other schools.

Mrs. Crouch emphasized the value of remedial reading classes in high school where the slower readers could work on appropriate material and would not be forced into college preparatory English classes. "These students are not interested in Milton and Chaucer."

Emotional problems are reflected in reading skill both ways, Mrs. Crouch pointed out. "You find students who have become highly skilled readers because they have taken to reading as an escape from home problems; on the other hand you find emotionally troubled children who refuse to read as an expression of their resentment."

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by C. Edward Graves Western Representative, National Parks Association

As I am writing this column, I have just returned from the Sierra Club Wilderness Conference in Berkeley. I gave an advance report on the program of this Conference in the column of March 11 and will now report on the Conference itself.

It was held in the Emerald Room of the Hotel Claremont on March 18 and 19 and attracted an attendance of over 200 conservationists, including a number from the East. It was the 4th Biennial Conference and was considered to be so successful that a movement is now under way to make it an annual affair, with the meetings held in the alternate years in the Pacific Northwest.

In a short column of this kind only a few highlights can be presented. The main objective was to move toward the establishment of a national policy on wilderness preservation and use. This was done for the national parks in the National Park Service Act of 1916. For wilderness in general there is no comparable policy. It was the unanimous feeling of all present that the time has now come to work actively toward national legislation with that end in view. The National Park Service Act is now being tested by the controversy over Echo Park Dam. If conservationalists win that fight, nearly all of them feel that we shall be in a good position to go ahead toward the wilderness objective.

In a two-day conference momentous decisions of that kind cannot possibly be translated into detailed legislative proposals. Therefore the final act of the Conference was to appoint a Standing Committee that will study various proposals of this kind and come up with something in more concrete form for discussion at the succeeding Conferences.

The greatest wilderness threat at the present time was agreed by everyone present to be the antiquated mining laws of 1872, which have never been brought up to date because of continuing opposition by the American Mining Congress, the lobbyist branch of the mining industry. Two bills before Congress at the present time would do much to correct that situation. In the Senate the Anderson bill and in the House the Hope bill have the approval of most conservation groups. These bills are not intended to interfere with legitimate mining but merely to prevent the unfair exploiting of our wilderness regions by people who want the sites for surface rights, such as resort development and lumbering, and who under the present mining laws can get them by the mere act of posting a public notice.

Those who wish to help are asked to write their congressmen, mentioning these two bills by name. It isn't necessary for individuals to refer to numbers in letters of this kind. Congressmen will understand if the subject of the bill is mentioned and the name of the congressmen who introduced the bills.

Traditional middy-cadet rivalry was chivalrously put aside by Midshipman Roderick A. Dresser of Carmel (right) and Cadet James C. Shivey of Columbus, Ohio. Midshipman Dresser, son of the Arthur Dressers, is being shown the sights around the campus of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, where 120 representatives of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis were entertained recently. A similar number of cadets visited Annapolis under a new exchange plan to promote cooperation among future officers of the Armed Forces. In the picture above, Midshipman Dresser and his host for the day are posed beside a Civil War memorial to Regular Army soldiers.

Scientist Shortage Concerns Educators Mitchell Reports

Carmel School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell was among the delegates to the annual conference of the American Association of School Administrators, held March 12 to 16 in Denver.

The conference was attended by several hundred school administrators from all the western states; "I got so I could understand Texans, even," says Mitchell, who was kept busy attending six general sessions and numerous workshops.

Among the highlights of the convention was a talk by General Thomas D. White, vice-chief of staff, U.S.A.F., and a discussion by the Hon. Clinton P. Anderson, U.S. Senator from New Mexico. Senator Anderson deplored the number of scientists being produced by this country as compared to Russia. Last year, he said, Russia graduated 50,000 scientists, while the U.S. graduated only 20,000. The senator also predicted that the area east of the Rockies would be the future manufacturing center of the country because of the potential power source in the rich uranium deposits there.

Mitchell's trip wasn't all work. He admits to having played hooky one day when, unable to resist the lure of the snow-clad slopes, he hopped on an excursion train for a day of skiing at Winter Park. "But so help me," he protests, "I didn't miss any of the conference."

Others from the Peninsula attending the conference were Glenn T. Goodwill, Monterey School Superintendent, and Thomas Turner, Pacific Grove.

Big Sur Review Opens Tonight

The 1955 edition of the annual Big Sur Review will go on stage tonight for the first of two performances at the Big Sur Grange, with curtain at 8:30 o'clock.

In previous years, the lower-coast extravaganza was known as the Potluck Review, but problems of supply brought about by progressively larger and hungrier audiences has compelled elimination of the dinner from the program.

The review will provide the same mixture of song, dance, comedy and clowning that has delighted natives and visitors alike for several years. Gene Perrine and Bob Skiles have written and directed the show, and are members of the talented cast of 31.

The show will be repeated again tomorrow night.

Crime Com. Report

PART I

By ZENAS POTTER, Chairman
Monterey Crime Study Committee

That the correctional institutions and procedures of Monterey County are failing to protect the community from lawbreaking effectively —at least the Monterey Peninsula Area—is the conclusion reached by the Monterey Crime Study Committee after eight months of detailed investigation of crime and delinquency and the work of the various agencies dealing with it. Since many of the 38 specific recommendations relate to county agencies, the report concerns the entire county.

Most important factual finding of the committee (based on study of a year's arrest records) is that out of the 78, 968 residents of the Monterey Peninsula, only 1,119, or 1.5 per cent, got into trouble with the law; but that many were arrested over and over again. In fact, over 75 per cent of all arrests on the Peninsula are of persons previously arrested. These "repeaters", the committee concluded, form the hard core of the crime problem, yet correctional procedures used have been conspicuously unsuccessful in keeping them from repeated offenses.

"Repeaters" dominate lawbreaking not only by adults but by juvenile delinquents. This the committee discovered in checking the records of 30 boys picked up by the Pacific Grove police in a year. Only 9 of the 30 had been picked up one time only. The other 21 had been picked up from two to 21 times! The 30 boys had been detained by the police 155 times!

This small group of "repeaters", the committee contends, are obviously not normal persons or they would act like the other 99 per cent. Instead they have emotional maladjustments which give them impulses to commit anti-social acts that are stronger than their fear of "the penalties of the law". They know more about the law's penalties than all of the other 99 per cent put together, yet they go on breaking the law over and over again. Until we deal with their maladjustments, rather than their offenses, we have no reason to expect any reduction in crime and delinquency.

The committee feels that bringing about a character change in grown-up law-breakers is far less hopeful than getting rid of maladjustments in boys and girls; so it recommends that, in planning improvements in correctional institutions, the right of way should always be given to girls and boys. It recommends establishment of a Child Guidance Center, with offices in Salinas, the Peninsula and King City. It praises employment of social psychologists by the County School system and the schools of the Peninsula to sort out emotionally disturbed children in the early primary grades and to give them help. It recommends erection of a new Juvenile Hall to permit segregation of delinquent and neglected children, and adolescent and younger children. It denounces probation office salaries below the pay of teachers of normal children, and far below the specialists employed by the schools to deal with maladjusted boys and girls. The report lauds the interest of the Juvenile Court in establishment of a Boys' Ranch, for boys not tough enough to be committed to the Youth Authority. An all-out program for saving boys and girls in trouble will give us fewer adult lawbreakers tomorrow, the committee concludes.

The report recommends that the present Juvenile Hall be used for women prisoners who are now housed in almost complete idleness in the down-town jail, and opposes expansion of the present Hall for boys and girls.

The committee reports that "repeaters" contributed 37 per cent of the 230 arrests of Peninsula juveniles for traffic violations, and that 17 boys were guilty of 37 traffic violations and 28 other delinquent acts, showing that maladjustments are behind repeated traffic violations as

DESERT WIND, MOJAVE

Through the blue night the desert wind strides in
Wearing a white burnoose of laurel stars.
Spread at his feet, the Bagdad of the west
Glimmers with gold and changing cinnabars.

Come, Caliph, come, the city lets you in!
How could her poplars stand without acclaim?
For you her oaks weave patterns on the moon
And her tall palm trees bend like verdant flame.

Come, desert wind, triumphant, rule out streets!
For them you bring the highest heaven down.
Skies of the Mojave, gleam above the lights!
Gone is the murk that hid the Northern Crown!

—MARCUS Z. LYTLE.

THE FARMER MENDS HIS FENCE

Unwinding of bright wire before snow
Has closed about him as the seasons go
To keep his cattle in or to keep out
That which is not his own without a doubt
Is the respect he's learned of chimney smoke
That curls about the land of neighbor folk.
For country wise he knows a fence to be
A yard stick of his own integrity,
If though the wire circles wide and late,
It has both day and night a friendly gate.

—CLAIRE AVEN THOMSON.

AFTER RAIN

High clouds of shining whiteness tower
Like temples of unearthly majesty
Silent and pure in the clean air
Against the infinite sky.

The pines so lately lashed by wind
Now hymn the morning with a song updrawn,
The minor tongues of grass give forth their praise
And all the land is joyful and replete.

The first white plum-tree shakes its delicate bloom
Fresh-opened in an hour beneath the sun,
And spreads its airy boughs of crowding stars
As though the earth were innocent Eden still.

Peace after storm, rest after rage and pain—
From what still center do these contrasts flow?
Calm in contention, constant in renewal,
Unchanged by change, all-moving yet unmoved.

—ELIZABETH BANCROFT.

Musical At The Wharf

By ROSALIND WALL

Lacking in pith but amusing, delightful, full of fantasy, leprechauns and pixylated Irishmen, Finian's Rainbow over at the Wharf is the kind of musical that's catchy and leaves you singing tunes. The Wharf Theatre always manages to capture the professional touch, a thing that is particularly astonishing when it comes to musicals; one does not expect to find top notch talent in the singing and dancing line in a little theatre; and yet, every time, the Wharf Theatre manages to bring it off, rather like pulling the proverbial rabbit out of the hat.

In Finian's Rainbow the pixylated (and whiskey-drinking) Irishman Finian (Nick LeFeuvre) comes with his daughter, Sharon (Donna Robb) to Rainbow Valley, a place not far from Fort Knox where pore whites and negroes live in happy amity raising tobaccy. Finian's theory is that if he buries the leprechaun's pot of gold which he stole in Ireland it is bound to cast a kind of magic spell on the land, even as the gold buried at Fort Knox does. The leprechaun, Og (Louis Cutelli) has pursued him, however, saying that "doom and gloom" have come to Ireland and to the Irish leprechauns because of the loss of their crock of gold; and things get very involved what with geiger counters, witchcraft, a negro-hating white senator being turned black, love, a fabulous extension of credit from that well-known firm Shears and Robust, and the increasing mortality of the leprechaun before the end.

Hit tune of the show was Og (Louis Cutelli), that delightful and bedazed by sensations of mortality leprechaun, singing When I'm Not Near the Girl I Love, I Love the Girl I'm Near. But the one that warmed up the house was the three Gospeleers (Jack Sword, Charles Pittman and Tom Kimling) singing The Begat, a very naughty song starting out with Adam and Eve.

Leading lady Donna Robb as Sharon had a clear, incisive voice; every word could be distinguished, and the words, by the way, what with the Irish, were complicated and fearsome to tongue. Nick LeFeuvre (Finian) put on his usual distinguished characterization, this time in a fabulous costume and with a wonderful putty nose. Louis Cutelli captured all hearts as the leprechaun, who fell first in love with Sharon, then, by mistake and by propinquity, with Susan (Pamela Beales) the girl who had never spoken, and danced out her words. Jack Sword was excellent as Senator Rawkins, the choleric senator who was first turned black and then had his internal being changed (because Og the leprechaun thought it would be a disgrace to witchcraft if the job weren't done properly); and Gordon Green as Woody, the leading man, was noteworthy for his excellent baritone. Duets with Donna Robb, such as Old Devil Moon, were particularly outstanding.

Elsie Welch and Cleo Roberts, who sang Necessity, had wonderful voices; but it was sometimes a little hard to make out their words. One of the best jobs in the show was that of Charles Pittman, who played first the Senator's butler, then reappeared as one of the three gospeleers. Definitely professional calibre, it was easy to picture him in the night-club world.

Others in the huge cast were Bruce Jones (Sunny), Lynn Ludlow (Sheriff), Glen Nielsen (Buzz Collins), Tom Kimling (1st sharecropper), Carmalita Benson (2nd sharecropper), John McCleary (Henry), Robert Hatch (3rd sharecropper), Helen Roberta (Cindy), Bill Friedrichs (Geologist), Mary Elstob (Diana), Robin Roberts (Honey Lou), Shelagh Scoville (Jane), Alec Merivale (Robust), Eugene Blank (Shears), and Tom Fast (Deputy). Singers were Elsie Welch, Cleo Roberts, Jean Friedrichs, Diane Trenner, Betty Adams, Karan Johnson, Betty Axeys, Nina Siedlecki, Shelagh Scoville, Rici Felstiner, Carmalita Benson, Sue

March 21, 1955

Editor The Pine Cone:

The problem of the day seems to be congestion in the streets and where to park the car. Or how to provide the necessary space. Who should pay for the space that must be found? The obvious answer would be, those who use it, and parking meters surely would fill the bill. But a parking meter is an unsightly excrescence on the sidewalk, and the business people frown on the idea. But who do use the parking spaces? The business people as well as the residents and visitors. The B.P. park their cars probably six hours a day, five or six days a week, while residents hardly average an hour a day each, but of course there are more of them. Five cents an hour would soon provide funds to start the parking lots, but nobody wants meters.

A general property tax? (It would be s m a l l.) That would promptly be defeated—or a new council elected. A parking district! What, and a ruinous tax on business or on business property? Nix! Oh, some far-sighted persons favor that, but it's a contest, and defeat is promised for the plan. The very thing, a sales tax, only a half-cent! See how easy it was to get the first half-cent, and Carmel didn't really need it; but a use has been found for the money. Let's get another half-cent before the county slaps one on. Anyway, the tourists will pay most of it.

Huh?- Who said that? Who buys all heavy household equipment, plumbing, washing machines, refrigerators, even garden tools and supplies, paint, and do-it-yourself kits? (Lucky it isn't levied on good supplies, only on restaurant meals.) What about the really considerable number of residents who have no cars and get their purchases home by walking and lugging? Why should they pay for somebody else's parking space? Or can they afford it better because they don't have bills for gas and upkeep?

That brings us back to the parking district and its assessment, and there's no logical reason for excluding any business property from the assessment except those few that provide ample off-street parking for their patrons or tenants. Hotels try to get off, coming and going. They want 24-hour-a-day parking permitted, with no clearing of the streets in the early morning hours so that the street sweeper can do its work, and they want to pay no assessment to buy parking lots.

IWO JIMA

Why should one man be honored more than another? For example, on Iwo Jima there were six men who went to the top of the hill and raised the flag. Two of these men were killed in cleaning out the Japanese at the bottom. They were not brought back to the states.

A few weeks ago one of the other men died of alcoholism. He was buried in Arlington Cemetery. I can't see why the other two men who died for their country were not buried there.

—Greg Neilson

UNITED NATIONS

We have been studying the United Nations. We have learned a lot about the United Nations and what they are doing to help different countries. We have also learned about what happens in meetings.

When a person is speaking, another p e r s o n from a different country can put on a pair of earphones and hear the speech in a different language, probably his own. There are interpreters working all the time translating the speeches into different languages so people from foreign countries can understand them.

If you come to the United Nations buildings you might be shown about by a guide from a foreign country. Or you can go to the post office down in the basement where they sell United Nations stamps which can be mailed only from the United Nations Post Office.

The United Nations right now is helping to settle disputes all over the world. If we are lucky, the United Nations may mean no more wars and an eternal everlasting peace with understanding between different nations.

—John Durein

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

I admire Robert Louis Stevenson, a poet and a writer. He had a wonderful vocabulary, as shown in his books.

He was born in Edinburg, Scotland, but spent most of his life traveling around the world looking for subjects for his books. At the same time he was fighting a battle against disease. He was born frail and stayed that way all his life. He was 44 years old when he died.

In 24 years he produced an enormous number of books. His first book, Inland Voyage, was written in 1878. Some of his most famous books were: A Child's Garden of Verse, Travels with a Donkey, The Ebb Tide, David Balfour, Prince Otto, New Arabian Nights, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Treasure Island, and Kidnapped.

Stevenson died on Upolu, an island in the Samoas. The natives called him Tusitala which means teller of tales. —Frank Palmer

CLASS DISCUSSIONS

Class discussion can make any subject more interesting by giving everyone new ideas on the subject.

Out of a class there always are about three-fourths of the people who hold up the subject, while others tear away from the subject and start off on a tangent and lead the rest of the group on a side trip. Sometimes the whole group follows and ends up none the wiser.

There are four main bodies of a discussion: questions, ideas, reference and statistics. There are others, too, but they don't matter. A good discussion keeps going by one subject leading into another. This is done by having something to say, not by "filibustering".

well as other illegal acts. The committee has postponed its report on the handling to juvenile traffic violations, pending further investigations.

The committee calls the County Correctional Farm a model institution for the nation, and approves the plans of Sheriff McCoy to erect permanent buildings to replace the present wooden dormitories, acquired from the Army at the end of the last war, but suggests postponement of those plans until extensive improvements in institutions and methods for saving our emotionally disturbed and otherwise maladjusted boys and girls, who will grow up to be adult "repeaters" if their maladjustments are not straightened out while they are young.

Sickafoose, Boyd Hamlin, Ronald Rosevear, Todd LeRoy, Harvey J. Hall, Eugene Blank, Lynn Ludlow, Bruce Jones, Robert Hatch, Bill Friedricks, Tom Kimling and Charles Pittman. Dancers were Carmen Fast, Ron Miller, Bobbe Sherman, Joyce Parker, Mary Elstob, Pamela Beales, Tom Powers and Tom Kimling. Pop Smith, Joanne Jones, Elizabeth Merivale and Pauline McCleary were among the townspeople.

Well-staged, fabulously costumed, Finian's Rainbow, directed by Thomas Brock and Robert Carson, is distinctly a credit to the Wharf Theatre, which has previously produced such musical hits as Dark of the Moon, Kiss Me Kate, Pal Joey and Brigadoon. Sets and lights by Walt Scott were superb as usual.

Cable "doctors"—they roll out day or night

Fortunately, this scene isn't common. Telephone cables can usually be fixed in daylight. But once in a while, on the quiet streets here in town, you'll see cable "doctors" taking care of an emergency at night. For along with policemen, firemen, and the like, telephone people help keep the night watch while the rest of the community sleeps. Operators, testmen, and repairmen are on the job throughout the quiet hours. Indeed, one of the big values of your telephone service is that it never rests. You Need Your Red Cross - Your Red Cross Needs You

The month of March is the month set aside for the nationwide fund-raising drive by the many Red Cross Chapters across the country.

With the month of March just about over, your Red Cross drive is nearing its completion short of the goal needed to cover the estimated expenses of the year's program set by your local Red Cross Chapter.

Your Red Cross particularly needs you in its 1955 campaign for funds and members. As a member of a community you know the important work your Red Cross does with its Blood Program, its Military Welfare, its First Aid Classes, and Volunteer Services, to mention only a few of the contributions made to our community life.

Our quotas this year are larger than last years' in order to meet the demands made by our increasing need for the Red Cross Services. To serve as an aid to the Volunteer Campaigners who are conducting the drive, we are appealing to you to lend your support to this worthwhile cause, and to help this drive be a success.

It is not too late, and your help will do much towards meeting our goal, and putting your Red Cross Chapter over the top in its drive.

Your Red Cross is counting on you.

Pat and Pamela Dormody Home

Back home after eight months sea duty with the Navy is Patrick L. Dormody, whose ship, the attack aircraft carrier USS Yorktown, arrived in San Francisco early this month after participation in the much-publicized evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

Planes from Pat's unit, Fighter Squadron 153, helped provide carrier-based air cover for the ships which removed civilians and military personnel from the chain of islands off the China coast. Pat, though he saw a number of the Tachens refugees, didn't actually witness much of the historic maneuver. The weather was so bad, he says, that even the pilots got only fleeting glimpses of the islands through the overcast.

Pat, a native Carmelite and another member of the celebrated Carmel High Class of '48, is now enjoying a 30-day leave at home with his wife, Elizabeth, and their two sons, Mike (aged six) and Tommy (aged two), and seeing his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Dormody. Also here for a visit is Pat's sister, Pamela Dormody, who will be returning to New York City this weekend after a three-week vacation from her job as assistant to the personnel director of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The one absent member of the family, Mike Dormody, was here on leave shortly after Christmas, having completed two stints of sea duty—one aboard a transport in Korea and the Pacific and another on a carrier in the Mediterranean. This week, Mike left on his third cruise; his ship, the USS Coral Sea, sailed Tuesday from Florida to rejoin the Mediterranean Fleet.

Pat and Mike have shared laughs over a coincidence which occurred in Japan. They both grew up with Bobby Johnson, son of the Dormodys' next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. "Cap" Johnson. Bobby, a fellow Carmel High grad, now serves aboard a submarine in the Pacific. Last year, when Mike's ship put in at Tokyo, the moment he stepped off the gangplank he ran into Bobby Johnson. The same thing happened to Pat recently, when the Yorktown docked at Tokyo. Scarcely had Pat landed ashore, but there was Bobby; his sub had had to dock in Tokyo for repairs.

Pat is off sea duty for the time being. When his leave is up, he is to rejoin his squadron at Moffett Field, where he hopes to remain until the last six months of his enlistment are completed. After that, he says, it will be back home to Carmel and, he hopes, a job here in town.

League Study Group

The second meeting in the new League of Women Voters' study on Individual Liberties will take place Tuesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Eben Whittlesey.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will present information and background on the general problem of individual liberty and public security. Particular question to be discussed is: Shall we allow complete freedom of speech for Communists and others who are admittedly intent upon destroying free speech?

Participating with Mrs. Whittlesey in the panel discussion will be Mrs. Edwin Bliss, Mrs. Fred Farr, and Mrs. Adrian Bennett.

April 2 is the wedding date for Carol Pierson, daughter of the Lawrence F. Piersons of Carmel, and Carl J. Lude of Mill Valley, who will exchange vows at 4:00 o'clock at the Church of the Wayfarer.

Preparations for the wedding will be completed next week, following the bride elect's arrival from Southern California. A graduate of Newport High School and Whittier College, she has been teaching school in Fallbrook, near San Diego.

Her sister, Nancy, will be maid of honor at the wedding. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Robert Boscole of Vallejo, a sister of the benedict, and Miss Mary Ellyn Dufek of San Francisco.

Mr. Lude, the son of Mrs. Madge Lude of Mill Valley, is a graduate of the University of California and a Navy veteran, having served over two years at sea and in Korea, where he was advisor and instructor at the Korean Naval Academy.

Mr. Lude has asked Adin Wilson of Lafayette to be best man, while Lee Anderson of Orinda and Grant Barnes of San Francisco will be ushers.

The Pierson home at Dolores and Vista will be the scene of the wedding reception. Following their honeymoon, Mr. Lude and his bride will make their home in San Francisco, where he teaches in elementary school.

Demo. Silver Tea Friday

Guest of honor at the affair will be Fred Farr, candidate for state senate, who will discuss his platform. Dr. Martha White will give a summary of important bills before the legislature, and Miss Hettie Withy will report on last week's convention of the California Democratic Council in Fresno.

Reception chairman for the tea is Mrs. Donald Abbott, assisted by Mrs. Leon Stutzman and Mrs. Alphonse Elsen. Homemade cakes and sandwiches will be served by Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Dorothy Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. John Short and Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell.

The tea begins at 3:00 o'clock, and the public is invited to attend.

Folk Dance Festival

With the possible exception of dyed-in-the-green Hibernians who might have been piqued at the absence of an Irish jig, feeling was unanimous among Peninsula folk-dancers that Saturday night's St. Patrick's Festival at Carmel High was the liveliest and best thing of its kind ever staged here.

Several hundred gaily-costumed dancers and spectators crowded the high school gym for the event, which was jointly sponsored by the Carmel Sandpipers, Los Bailadores de Monterey, Monterey Shindiggers and Peninsula Promenaders.

The dancers had a whirl at everything from Cotton-Eyed Joe to a vigorous Russian peasant dance, with the squares drawing as many as 38 to 40 groups of eight to the floor. During the intermissions when the dancers were drawing their second wind, several stunning dances were staged by visiting groups, the Gilroy Gliders, Salinas Lariat Swingers, Dudes and Darlins and Jeans and Queens.

Masters - of - ceremonies for the evening were Lloyd Weer, Ricky Edwards, Morris Dill and Frank Catalano. Calling the squares were Sterling Hall, Dick and Marge Bennett, Ricky Edwards, Ed Hixson, Iris Down, Bob Cryder, Ace Smith and Harry Cullum.

Mrs. Singleton, D.A.R. Speaker

At last week's meeting of the Commodore Sloat Chapter, D.A.R., at the home of Mrs. William Chapman, Mrs. Charles Tod Singleton, Jr., guest speaker, told of her experiences during Captain Singleton's tour of duty in Japan. She described the George Washington room in a Japanese hospital maintained by the officers wives' club of the Yokosuka Naval Base for Japanese children, especially those requiring eye surgery.

Reports on the recent conference of the California State Society in San Francisco were presented by Mrs. Lloyd E. Kindall and Mrs. Frank E. La Cauza.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Chapman were the Misses Ellen Frink, Elizabeth Merrill and Mary Sewall.

Carolyn McEnery Weds Saturday

Carolyn Douglas McEnery, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Douglas W. McEnery of Carmel, will become the bride of Francis Robert MacGinnis of Dublin, Ireland, in a 4:00 o'clock ceremony Saturday afternoon at Carmel Mission.

The future bride is a 1950 graduate of the University of California, where she was affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority, and has worked since her graduation in Washington, D.C. She has one brother, Capt. John McEnery, on an Army mission in Madrid.

Mr. MacGinnis, who has served for several years as Second Secretary with the British Embassy in Washington, is the son of Mrs. Patrick MacGinnis of Old Connaught, County Dublin, Ireland, and the late Dr. MacGinnis of Murray House, Chesterfield, Derbyshire. Educated in England, he was graduated from Stoneyhurst and Merton College, Oxford, and entered Her Majesty's Foreign Service in 1949.

The bride's cousin, Miss Suzanne Walsh of Washington, D.C., will be her attendant at the wedding Saturday, while Russell Jordan of San Francisco will serve as Mr. MacGinnis' best man. The wedding reception will take place in the Copper Cup Room of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School.

Miss McEnery, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a full-length gown of white organdy and a fingertip veil of heirloom Brussels lace which was her mother's, and will carry an all-white cascade bouquet. Her maid of honor has chosen a frock of pleated white organdy over pink banded with French embroidery and will carry a bouquet of pink carnations.

Following the reception, the new Mr. and Mrs. MacGinnis will leave on a week's honeymoon, planning to return here for a brief visit before their departure in April for Europe. They will make their home in Paris, where the benedict has been assigned to the United Kingdom delegation to NATO.

Clives Have a Boy

Mr. and Mrs. John McKenzie Clive of Pebble Beach became the parents of a baby boy on March 14 at the Monterey Hospital. The young man, who is now getting settled in his new home, has been named Frederick Dean.

Gwen Balazs is Engaged

Wedding plans are in the air for Gwen Marie Balazs of Carmel and James F. Vincent of Monterey, whose betrothal was announced last Monday evening at a party in their honor given by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Balazs.

The young couple plan to be married in June, following Gwen's graduation from Carmel High School.

A native Carmelite, Gwen has attended local schools and has taken part in several amateur theatrical productions here. Her fiance, now a corporal stationed at Fort Ord, also attended Carmel High before joining the Army.

The future benedict, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vincent of Sacramento, makes his home in Monterey with his grandmother, Mrs. Lester Hartigan, curator of California's First Theatre. He has one sister, Margaret Vincent. James, who plans to make his career in the Regular Army, has been at Fort Ord since last June.

Hazeltines Plan Voyage

Busy with packing and preparations are Col. and Mrs. Charles Hazeltine, who will leave here early in April for a three months' cruise to Europe and tour of the continent.

Miss Benson, Walt Scott Wed

Two Carmelites whose enthusiasm is their work with the Wharf Theatre, Carmalita Benson and Walter Scott, Jr., were married Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at St. James' Episcopal Church in Monterey.

The Wharf Theatre was the scene of the reception, and several members of the Theatre staff were among the wedding party. Thomas Brock gave the bride in marriage, while Jane E. Parker was matron of honor and Robert Carson best man.

The new Mrs. Scott is the daughter of Mrs. Carmalita Lewis Benson of Carmel and Robert Benson of Madison, Wisconsin. She attended Douglas School in Pebble Beach and graduated from the University of California, later joining the Cleveland Playhouse. She returned to Carmel last year after a year in Europe, and has appeared in several productions of the Wharf Players. Carmalita is also director of the Wharf's Children's Theatre.

The benedict is the son of Mrs. Walter Scott of Carmel and the late Mr. Scott, and grandson of Mrs. C. A. Dir of Carmel. Walter's father was founder and namesake of the Walter Scott Marionettes, and there are many here who remember his marionette theatre in what is now the Golden Bough Court. Mr. Scott and the marionette theatre toured the coast for two decades, and following his death in 1946 the theatre was continued for a time by his son. Formerly in business as free-lance lighting consultant, Walter has worked with the Wharf Theatre for the past three years on lighting and set design.

Following the wedding and reception, the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon in San Francisco, and will return this weekend to make their home in Carmel. Both plan to continue their work in the theatre here.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The essentially spiritual nature of all that is real and eternal will be emphasized at Christian Science services on Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entited "Reality."

Among the selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will be the following (335:27-29): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

The following passage will be read from the Bible (Psalms 33: 4, 5): "For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (119:12, 18): "Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes. . . . Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law."

Willette Fitch

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11:00 o'clock at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, for Mrs. Willette Allen Fitch, a former Carmel resident who died in Dallas, Texas, Saturday following a heart attack.

Mrs. Fitch, formerly Willette Allen, was born in Piedmont but was raised in Carmel, where she attended local schools. She was the daughter of Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown of Carmel, now living in Rome, and of the late Peter Allen of Piedmont.

Prior to her marriage to Robert Fitch, Mrs. Fitch had had a successful career as a ballet dancer, having performed as premiere ballerina with the San Francisco Opera Ballet and with Andreas Pavlev and Serge Oukrainsky in the Paris Opera Ballet. Her first ballet training was received in Carmel, and in later years, after establishing her reputation, she returned here at various times to conduct her own ballet school.

During the second World War she was married here to Robert Fitch, who was then stationed at Fort Ord. Following his discharge, the couple made their home in Indiana. For the past two years they have lived in Irving, a suburb of Dallas, where Mr. Fitch is general manager of the Fry Roofing Co.

In addition to her husband and her mother, she leaves a son, Frank Fitch, of Irving; two sisters, Mrs. James C. Doud of Carmel and Mrs. Robert F. Hart of Sausalito; two brothers, William B. Brown of Carmel and Hamilton Brown of Houston, Texas; and the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Shreve M. Archer of Carmel, John and Mary Lee Geisen of Sausalito, Toland Doud of Palo Alto, Mrs. Robert Warren of Long Island, Sharon Brown of San Francisco and Peter and Christopher Brown of Houston.

The Rev. Bernard Lovgren will officiate at the funeral services.

WHEREAS, paragraph 5 of the petition states with respect to the improvements proposed to be made on the proposed parking places:

"5. The improvements proposed to be made on such proposed parking places shall consist of levelling and black topping such parking places. Such improvements are proposed to be paid for by the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea at large."; and

WHEREAS, the Engineer's Report states with respect to the improvements proposed to be made on the proposed parking places:

WHEREAS, the City Council has considered the Engineer's Report and has determined to form a parking district pursuant to the Law for the purposes of the acquisitions and improvements set forth in the petition subject to changes and modifications in said acquisitions and improvements set forth in the Engineer's Report:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, as follows:

1. It is the intention of the City Council to form a parking district pursuant to the Parking District Law of 1951, Streets and Highways Code Section 35100 et seq., and to issue bonds in the amount and for the purposes hereinafter stated, pursuant to said Law.

2. The name of the proposed parking district shall be: "Parking District No. 1 of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea".

A description of the boundaries of the proposed district is as follows: The boundaries of the C-1 and C-2 Zones of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea as established by Ordinance No. 1 N.S. adopted by the City Council of the City on April 15, 1940, which said boundaries as set forth in said ordinance are hereby incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof. The boundaries of said C-1 and C-2 zones and the boundaries of the proposed district are shown on map dated 27 Mar. 1940 entitled Official Zoning Map of Carmel-by-the-Sea attached to the Ordinance Code of the City on file in the office of the City Clerk, which map shall govern for all detail of the boundaries of the proposed district.

HORSEMEN'S DANCE

Members of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association will doff their boots and put on their dancing shoes Saturday night, when the Association will hold its annual spring dance at the Carmel Valley Community Center. It is to be a family party, and the public is invited to attend. Children under 12 will be admitted free. Music for dancing will be provided by the Wonder Valley Boys' four-piece band, and those planning to attend the hoedown are reminded that Western dress is the order of the evening.

The Needler

By Beth

The most compact solution yet to Carmel's parking problem appeared before a fascinated local public on Saturday in the form of a tiny, three-wheeled vehicle which, it turned out, is the latest and most ingenious product of Germany's famed and once infamous Messerschmitt works. We first spotted the jaunty little machine on Ocean Avenue, surrounded by 20 or so sidewalk mechanics and onlookers. Shaped vaguely like a streamlined, three-sided Parker House roll, the Messerschmitt was the color (and almost the size) of a robin's egg and fitted with two seats, one behind the other. Its owner, a well-dressed woman, informed us that she'd had it shipped over from Germany, that it was powered by a one-cylinder engine and got 100 miles to the gallon. Then she and her equally well-dressed friend arranged themselves snugly in the tandem seats, started up the put-put engine and closed down the car's plastic dome, without ruffling a flower of their spring hats. The sidewalk crowd gave a good natured cheer as the car, after a few false starts, puttered bravely up Ocean Avenue, looking for all the world like one of those old-fashioned Easter eggs with the peek-through top.

It is time to make another report on Sh-Boom, the Labrador Retriever who, not yet a year old has developed her retrieving instincts to a point where it becomes more and more embarrassing to her owners, Maurice and Ila Grimshaw. As you may remember, thus far she has brought home such items as a crutch, camp chair, new broom and kettles. She also practiced jumping rope with two little girls in the neighborhood. One morning recently Maurice looked out the front window. "I believe," he said to his wife, "that Sh-Boom is more interested in boys' games now." He pointed and there on the lawn was a catcher's mitt. Sh-Boom sitting beside it, looking proud. Just shortly before that, an exhaust pipe had dropped off Maurice's car three or four blocks from his home. Before he had a chance to go back for it the next morning, Sh-Boom had already retrieved it. She now also has a paper route, and going to houses in the neighborhood and asking shyly if the owner has been missing that day's periodical is now Ila's chore. Of course, these are only a few of the things she has been bringing home. The other morning she showed up with a carton of half-and-half. And they haven't the slightest idea where THAT came from!

Catherine Millar Sings Tuesday With County Symphony

Mezzo-soprano Catherine Millar will be soloist with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in its third program of the current season, to be presented Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

Miss Millar, sister of the orchestra's conductor Gregory Millar, will be heard in the Letter Aria from Jules Massenet's opera, Werther.

The orchestral portion of the program spans three centuries in musical literature, opening with a Toccata by Frescobaldi (1583-1643) and closing with the brilliant suite from the ballet El Amor Brujo by the Spanish composer, Manuel De Falla (1876-1946). Major work on the program will be Beethoven's monumental Symphony in E-Flat, The Eroica, followed by Debussy's Prelude to The Afternoon of a Faun.

Girls' League Fashion Tea

As sure as spring brings little flowers it brings fashion shows, and the Carmel High Girls' League was just one step behind the vernal equinox when, on Tuesday afternoon, it presented its annual tea and spring style preview before an enraptured audience of League members and mothers.

Paris in the Spring was the theme chosen for the show and decorations, but the styles were strictly domestic, ranging from beach and playclothes through informal campus clothes to all-out date dresses. Mark Raggett, Mrs. Walter McCloud and Mrs. Robert Mason were commentators for the show, describing the styles and introducing the models.

Mannequins for the fashion parade were the following Girls' League members: Lucy Carmalt, Xenia Klotz, Stephanie Craviotto, Connie Nielsen, Jeanne Fratessa, Carolyn Hansen, Trulee Scarlett, Pat Ricketts, Naida Smith, Susie Taylor, Leslie Geyer, Julie Paddock, Judy Paplow, Jana Miles, Joan Engle, Denise Wells, Lorna Forster, Penny Stuefloten, Bonny Lynn Redhead, Carol Boyd, Karen Johnson, Sandra Smith, Patty Elston, Kay Jones, Linda Teague, Shari Mayo, Gay Morris, Robin Burnham, Patty Elston, Lacy Williams, Gail Mackenzie, Heather Hamilton, Suzann Pilot, Bonnie Wager and Lynda King.

Faculty members who assisted in the project were Mrs. Kenneth Down, Mrs. Phyllis Crockett, Mr. Richard Hagedorn and Mr. Lloyd Miller. General chairman for the Girls' League was Toni Hamilton, assisted by the following committee heads: Tessie Requiro, invitations; Terri Otterson, decorations; Sandra Six, programs; Patty Elston, refreshments and serving; Jean Tintea, model preparations.

Cynthia Cox is president of the Carmel High Girls' League, with Toni Hamilton, vice president, Tessie Requiro, secretary, and Diane Redding, treasurer. Twelfth grade representatives are Xenia Klotz and Connie Nielsen; 11th grade, Trulee Scarlett and Frances Castrejon; 10th grade, Priscilla Swanson and Pari Storch; 9th grade, Lacy Williams and Marilyn Reid.

Her other accomplishments include the DAR Good Citizenship Award for Carmel High and wining the Gold Cup Bank of America award. And scholarship isn't her only strong point: Jeanne is also girls' tennis champion and blanket award winner in girls' athletics, a member of the school band and orchestra, and in frequent demand as a model for fashion shows.
